The same dark humor, morally ambiguous subject matter, and sophisticated treatment found in Szemans novels and poetry collections are present in her stories. Quirky characters abound. BusMan, in the story of the same name, re-invents himself as a superhero after an unexpectedly frightening incident on his daily route. Vincent, Hunchback of the Midwest and member of a traveling freak-show, regales his audience with tales of conquests over beautiful women, all the while longing for the one beauty he fears he will never possess. Thirty years after the end of the violently protested 1960-70s conflict, the Vietnam War comes to a small towns Convenience Store in the surprisingly affecting and disturbing VC in the USA. Jesus, his followers, and the Romans who occupied Judaea during Jesus lifetime frequently appear, involved in encounters not mentioned in biblical stories. Passion Play recounts Judas and Mary Magdalenes attraction to and avoidance of each other, as they struggle with their mutual love for Jesus. Sleepless and agitated, Roman Prefect Pontius Pilate is plagued by nightmares, doubts, and crumbling self-confidence after his unsettling encounter with Jesus in Slaying the Dragon. As in Szemans other work, the universal themes of family, love, loss, loyalty, and betrayal are visited in this collection as well. The narrator of Me and Mom and JFK, now a grown man, recalls his childhood, when he competed with President Kennedy, before and after his assassination, for his own mothers love. The spunky, unforgettable narrator of St. Jerome Emiliani Comes to the...
