Though aware of the risks of doing so in the presence of a public so long accustomed to high intellectual entertainment, in a place where the ablest voices of Massachusetts are familiar, where the American Cicero himself once entranced, beyond forgetting, those within the reach of his cadences, still I accepted. I did so, not only on the general principle that it is well to take the part which, in any relation, your friends assign you, but because I count with especial confidence on the indulgence and support of yourselves. All the public ties which bind collegians together, are pleasant; sweet are the recollections too of our clubs and class associations. Dear too, no doubt, are the pledges which connect the brethren of secret societies, against which I am enlisted.
